A STEP TOWARDS TAKING A POSITIVE ACTION

Be the Change

A Foundation created by people who refuse to accept 'Status Quo' People who want to take positive actions to bring about change in things that disturb them, things and situations which they believe can be better.

We all get upset, annoyed, angry and frustrated on various things that we believe should be different or better than their current status.

However mostly we accept the status as something that can not be changed or will not be changed because we believe that the size of the problem is much bigger than us. We thus accept the situation as an unpleasant fact and blame it on forces which we believe are stronger than us.

The foundation is an effort to challenge this thought process and create a set up that with like minded people will work on bringing about changes to improve and make better the current status.
